GETTYSBURG ASYLUM
FOR INVALID SOLDIERS.

Incorporated by Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, March 6, 1867.

The Board of Supervisors appointed by the above Corporation to carry out the objects of the act of incorporation, respectfully announce to the public that the Legislature of Pennsylvania has authorized the raising of funds for the erection, establishment and maintainance of an Asylum for Invalid Soldiers of the late war, to be built on the battle-field of Gettysburg, and as inducement to patriotic citizens to contribute to this benevolent object, have empowered the Corporation to distribute amongst the subscribers such articles of value and interest, from association with the late war, or any moneys, effects, property or estate, real or personal, whatever, in the State or elsewhere, at such time or upon such terms, and in such way and manner whatsoever, as to them shall seem fit, any laws of this Commonwealth to the contrary notwithstanding.

The enterprise is cordially recommended by the following named well-known gentlemen:

Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin,
Major General George H. Meade,
Major General Galusha Pennypacker,
Major General E. M. Gregory,
Major General John R. Brooke,
Major General Charles H. T. Collis,
Major General Henry J. Madill,
Major General James L. Selfridge,
Brigadier General James A. Beaver,
Brigadier General Horatio G. Sickles,
Brigadier General Joseph F. Knipe,
Brigadier General William J. Rolton,
Brigadier General Samuel Zulick,
Brigadier General John K. Murphy,
Brigadier General John F. Ballier,
Brigadier General T. F. McCoy,
Brigadier General R. E. Winslow,
Brigadier General Henry Pleasants,
Brigadier General J. P. S. Gobin,
Brigadier General J. M. Campbell
Brigadier General Thomas Walker,
Brigadier General W. Cooper Tally,
Brigadier General D. M. M. Gregg,
Colonel F. Stambaugh.

The site for the institution (thirty acres) has already been purchased, and it is hoped that the good work may commence before midsummer.

Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Association, No. 1126 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, on and after Monday, the 6th day of May, 1867:

For each subscription of five dollars a certificate will be issued which will entitle the holder to such article of value as may be awarded to its number.

The first distribution of awards will be made immediately upon the receipt of 80,000 subscriptions of $5 each.

The distribution will be public, and under the direct supervision of the Corporation.

Persons at a distance are requested to remit their subscriptions (when practicable) by Post office money order, or registered letter, to insure prompt delivery. Direct all letters to J. D. HOFFMAN,
Secretary Board of Supervisors,
Box 1481, P. O., Philadelphia.

The following is a schedule of awards to be made under the first distribution. The items of Diamonds and other precious stones were purchased from citizens of the South during the war, and their genuineness is certified to by Henle & Bros., the most extensive diamond importers in the country, and by J. Hermann, diamond setter, New York.

HARTFORD
LIVE STOCK INSURANCE COMPANY.

CASH CAPITAL $800,000.

We are now prepared to insure LIVE STOCK against both Death and Theft, in this live and reliable Company. Owners of stock have now the opportunity, by insuring with this Company, of obtaining security and remuneration for the loss of their animals in case of DEATH or theft.

OWNERS OF HORSES,

Manufacturers, Farmers, Teamsters, Expressmen, Physicians, and in fact all who are to any extent dependant upon the services of their horses in their daily vocations, should insure in this Company, and thus derive a protection against the loss of their animals, which are in many cases the sole means of support to their owners.

FARM STOCK.

Farmers and others owning cattle should avail themselves of this means of saving the value of their stock, and secure an equivalent for the loss which would otherwise fall heavily upon them in being deprived of their Cattle, by insuring in this, the

PIONEER COMPANY OF AMERICA!

By insuring in this Company you exchange a certainty for an uncertainty. No man can tell whether his animals may not be stolen or die through some unforseen calamity.

THE GAME OF LIFE—A HOMILY.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

There's a game much in fashion, I think it's called Euchre,
(Tho' I never have played it for pleasure or lucre,)
In which, when the cards are in certain positions,
The players appear to have changed their conditions,
And one of them cries, in a confident tone,
"I think I may venture to 'go it alone!'"

While watching the game, 'tis a whim of the bard's,
A moral to draw from the skirmish of cards,
And to fancy he finds in the trivial strife
Some excellent hints for the battle of life;
Where—whether the prize be a ribbon or throne—
The winner is he who can "go it alone!"

When the great Galileo proclaimed that the world,
In a regular orbit, was ceaselessly whirled,
And got—not a convert—for all of his pains,
But only derision, and prison, and chains,—
"It moves, for all that!" was his answering tone,
For he knew, like the earth, he could "go it alone!"

When Kepler, with intellect piercing afar,
Discovered the laws of each planet and star,
And doctors who ought to have landed his name
Derided his learning and blackened his fame,
"I can wait," he replied, "till the truth you can own,"
For he felt in his heart he could "go it alone!"

Alas for the player who idly depends
In the struggle of life upon kindred or friends;
Whatever the value of blessings like these,
They can never atone for inglorious ease,
Nor comfort the coward, who finds with a groan,
That his crutches have left him to "go it alone!"

There's something no doubt in the hand you may hold—
Health, family, culture, wit, beauty and gold
The fortunate owner may fairly regard
As each, in its way, a most excellent card,
Yet the game may be lost with all these for your own,
Unless you've the courage to "go it alone!"

In battle, or business, whatever the game—
In law or in love, it is ever the same;
In the struggle for power, or the scramble for pelf,
Let this be your motto, "Rely on yourself!"
For whether the prize be a ribbon or throne,
The winner is he who can "go it alone!"

A HOMILY ON A HOMILY.

BY D. A. LEVKRIN.

I have read, witty Saxe, your last verses on Euchre—
(It's a game I have played, tho' never for lucre)—
And if you but knew it as well as I know it
You would find, oh most genial and excellent poet,
It teaches a lesson more useful than one,
To be gleaned from the sentence, "I'll play it alone!"

Self-reliance, we know, is an excellent trait:
The advance guard of science who patiently wait
Until time has developed the truths they proclaim,
Deserve a high place on the records of fame,
And often in life, as in Euchre, I own
You make a big march when you "play it alone!"

But to go it alone, you no doubt understand,
You must hold the big knaves of the pack in your hand;
And too often in life in a similar fix,
You depend on such cards to secure you "the tricks,"
So that something too much of the knave may be shown
In the selfish desire to "go it alone!"

But the game you describe as a "trivial strife"
Has a moral to point for the battle of life;
It is this—when the cards are dealt round on the stand,
And each player looks anxiously into his hand
How bravely your partner ill luck can resist
If cheered by the sound of your voice, "I'll assist!"

What's the worth of this world, if designing and cold,
You selfishly seek all the "honors" to hold,
Repelling your neighbor with glances of stone
And the words harshly spoken, "I'll play it alone"?
No, no, higher up on humanity's list
Is he who can cheerfully say "I'll assist!"

Then in love, O rash poet! if she whose bright eyes
Are gazing in yours with tender surprise,
Should apply to your own case the moral you've shown,
And quietly tell you to "play it alone!"
With what passionate ardor those lips would be kissed
Till they murmured once more the soft [words, "I'll assist!"

Then shuffle the pack! Cut the cards once again!
And let a new moral awaken your strain—
Go teach to the world that the battle of life
May be lightened to all who take part in the strife,
If the generous lesson thus taught be not missed,
And each man to his neighbor will say "I'll [assist!"

A TERRIBLE BEDFELLOW.

I looked at my neighbor with considerable curiosity. His face indicated a man of not over thirty years—a period at which men are still young, but his hair was as white as fresh fallen snow. One seldom sees even on the heads of the oldest men, hair of such immaculate whiteness. He sat by my side in a car of the Great Western Railroad, in Canada, and was looking out at the window. Suddenly turning his head he caught me in the act of staring at him—a rudeness of which I was ashamed. I was about to say some words of apology, when he quietly remarked:

"Don't mention it, sir; I'm used to it."

The frankness of this observation pleased me, and in a very little while we were conversing on terms of familiar acquaintanceship, and before long he had told me the whole story.

"I was a soldier in the army of India," said he, "and as is often the case with soldiers I was a little too fond of good liquor. One day I got drunk and was shut up in the black hole for it. I slumped down upon the floor of the dungeon, and was just dropping off to sleep, when I felt a cold, slimy shape crawling across my right hand as it lay stretched out above my head on the floor. I knew at once what it was—a snake! Of course my first impulse was to draw away my hand, but knowing if I did so the poisonous reptile would probably strike its fangs into me, I lay still with my heart beating in my breast like a trip hammer. Of course my fright sobered me instantly. I realized all my peril in its fullest extent. O, how I lamented the hour that I had touched liquor! In every glass of liquor they say there is a serpent; but it does not come to everybody in the shape it came to me. With a slow, undulating motion the reptile dragged its carcass across my face, inch by inch, and crept down over my breast, and thrust its head inside my jacket. As I felt the hideous scraping of the slimy body over my cheeks it was only by the most tremendous effort that I succeeded in restraining myself from yelling loudly with mingled terror and disgust. At last I felt the tail wriggling down towards my chin; but imagine what I felt at heart, if you can imagine it, as I realized that the dreadful creature had coiled itself up under my jacket as I lay, and had seemingly gone to sleep, for it was still as death. Evidently it had no idea that I was a human creature; if it had it, would not have acted in this manner. All snakes are cowardly, and they will not approach a man unless to strike him in self defense. Three hours I lay with that dreadful weight on my bosom, and each minute was like an hour to me—like a year! I seemed to have lived a lifetime in that brief space. Every incident of my life passed across my mind in rapid successions as they say is the case with drowning men. I thought of my mother, away in old England; my happy home by the borders of the Avon; my Mary, the girl I loved, and never expected to see them more. For no matter how long I bore this, I felt that it would end in death at last. I lay as rigid as a corpse, scarcely daring even to breathe, and all the time my breast was growing colder and colder where the snake lay against it, with nothing but a thin cotton shirt between my skin and its. I knew if I stirred it would strike; but I felt I could not bear this much longer. Even if I succeeded in lying still until the guard came, I expected that his opening the door and coming in would be my death warrant all the same; for no doubt the reptile would see that I was a man, as soon as the light should be let in at the door. At last I heard footsteps approaching. There was a rattling in the lock. It was the guard. He opened the door. The snake—a cobra di capello I now saw—darted up its huge hooded head, with the hideous rings around its eyes, as about to strike. I shut my eyes, and murmured a short prayer. Then it glided away with a swift motion, and disappeared in the darkness. I staggered to my feet, and fell swooning into the arms of the guard. For weeks after I was very sick; and when I was able to be about, I found that my hair was white as you see it. I have never touched a drop of liquor since."—Wm. Wirt Sikes.

THERE is a dog in Edinburg which for eight and a half years has kept nightly watch over the grave of his master in the Old Greyfriars' churchyard. All endeavors to induce him to relinquish his vigils have been unavailing, even in the most inclement weather. He roams about by day and is fed by the people who have become interested in his remarkable fidelity.

THE HOME PAPER.

The Cleveland Herald makes the following sensible remarks in relation to local newspapers:—"It matters not how many newspapers a man takes, his list is not complete without his home paper. Every citizen who wishes well for his locality, should give a generous support to his home paper. If that paper is not just such as he would wish, he should feel that himself and neighbors are responsible, in a measure, for its short comings. Give a paper a liberal support, an active sympathy, and it will instantly respond to such manifestations. Let an editor feel that his efforts are appreciated, and he is the most responsive being on earth; his paper being a part of himself, he is as sensitive to praise or censure as a doting father. Nothing can supply the place of the home paper. It is the mirror in which the town and neighborhood news is reflected; in the social, political and religious circle were printed, it fills a place that no other paper can. When a need of economy compels the curtailment of your newspaper list, strike off every other one before you say to the publisher of your home journal: 'Stop my paper.' The man who does not read the advertisements in his home paper, can never be said to be well posted. The advertisements indicate not only the business enterprise of the place in which they are published, but the enterprise of the advertiser. When you see a man who advertises liberally, you may be certain of finding a good stock of goods in his store, that he keeps up with the market, and sells cheaper than those who do not advertise. If you want good bargains, always patronize those who avail themselves of the advantages afforded through the advertising columns of the home paper."

AN UNFORTUNATE PRIZE-HOLDER.—A man who lives in one of the rural counties of Ohio drew the prize of "20,000 acres of land in Pike county, Kentucky," in the recent gift enterprise scheme in that vicinity. He called upon the managers of the enterprise and told them he didn't want the land, and they might keep it by giving him $20,000. They declined the offer, generous as it was, and then he dropped to $15,000, and finally to $10,000, declaring that he "hoped never to see his wife and children if he would take a cent less." The gift men didn't want the land. It was worth double the price he offered to take for it, of course, but they had other uses for the money and couldn't invest. He took the deed for the land—would gladly have taken the will for the deed, that is, if they willed to give him the money—and went to Pike county to view his possessions. He found twenty thousand acres of barren rock and mountain, that would hardly afford subsistance for a rattlesnake. He couldn't find a level spot of ground that afforded sufficient space for the most economical garden patch, but he could instead

——"See rudely swell
Crag o'er crag, and fell o'er fell."

And nothing else. He wended his way back again—"all the way from Pike"—and offered to let the gift managers have the land for $800—hoped to die if he'd fall another cent. They declined the offer, singular as it may appear, but finally agreed to take it off his hands and pay him $500. This he indignantly refused, and so he still remains one of the great "land monopolists" of the day, the owner of an exceedingly picturesque and undulating farm of twenty thousand acres.—Turf, Field and Farm.

ABOUT twenty miles from Carson City, Nevada, are some mineral springs called Steamboat Springs, from the noise they make, which sounds like several steamers discharging steam. These springs cover an area of about three acres. The water is boiling hot, and the escaping steam can be seen for several miles before sunrise, and the atmosphere in the vicinity is filled with the smell of sulphur. There are crevices in the rocks where the water can be seen boiling at a depth of thirty feet. There is also a spring which is called Breathing Spring. It is shaped much like a well. The water recedes to the depth of ten or twelve feet, remains for five minutes, and then commences to boil, and rises till it shoots into the air about ten feet, and in ten minutes it begins to recede.

"YES you're a married man, Sammy, you'll understand a great many things as you don't understand now; but vether it's vorth vile to go through so much to learn so little, as the charity boy said when he got to the end of the alphabet, is a matter of taste."

FARMING ON SHARES.—Connecticut boasts of some great farmers. They have a curious way of doing things on shares, and the results of these operations offer a fine field for the display of logic. One of their farmers leased to his son-in-law three acres of land, to be planted with corn and to be cultivated by him "at the halves." In the fall the lessee said that was the poorest land he ever worked on; for, said he, "I worked hard all summer, and at harvest time, when we came to divide the crop, I not only had no corn left for myself, but I had to go and buy five bushels of shelled corn to make out my father-in-law's half."

Here is another case illustrating the workings of this "peculiar institution" of doing things on shares: Farmer A—— happened to have more pigs than he could keep, while his neighbor, B——, had more milk than he could dispose of. One day, A—— brought two pigs over and deposited them in B——'s pen, saying that he wished B—— to keep them on shares—and that he might keep them two months and have one of them as his share. B—— replied that, as he had plenty of feed, he would keep them four months and have them both, as, of course, that would amount to the same thing! A—— left, saying that he supposed it was all right; but guessed he wouldn't bring any more.

IN a certain school in Springfield, Mass., the lady teacher, a few days since, had occasion to punish one of the fittle boys for using profane language. There being a knot hole in the floor, she conceived the idea to make him think he had got to stand near by with a pair of tongs and watch until he caught a rat that should come up from below. Stationing him, she gave him strict injunctions to remain until he accomplished the feat, calculating, of course, after he had stood there a couple of hours, to send him to his seat. Judge of her surprise when, two minutes after, he fastened the tongs to a genuine live fellow of the rat kind, with enormous whiskers and tail, and holding him up, exclaimed, "By G—d I've caught him!"

THE MEMORY OF A MOTHER.—When temptations assail, and when you are almost persuaded to do wrong, how often a dear mother's word of warning will call to mind vows that are rarely broken! Yes, the memory of a mother has saved many a poor wretch from going astray. Tall grass may be growing over the hallowed spot where her earthly remains repose; the dying leaves of autumn may be whirled over them, or the white mantle of winter may cover them from sight; yet her spirit appears when he walks in the right path, and gently, softly, mournfully calls for him when wandering off into the ways of error.

SAVE YOUR OLD BREAD.—Every housekeeper, perhaps, does not know that pieces of old bread, crumbs, &c., on being soaked and mixed up with dough in making new bread, improves it very much. We would advise all house-keepers who read this recipe to try it and our word for it, they will never allow a piece of dry bread to be lost afterwards, especially in these high prices, when flour is from seventeen to eighteen dollars per barrel. Let economy be the watchword.

SOME of our friends who delight in flowers, ought to try an experiment recommended by one of our exchanges. If successful, the result will be a gratifying one. It says: Any lady who cultivates a rose in her apartments will find that by planting an onion in the same pot, the fragrance of the rose will increase a hundred per cent. Why this is so is more than we can say.

IN Professor Phelps' book, entitled 'The Still Hour,' occurs the following sentence: "The stillness of the hour is the stillness of a dead clam at sea." The printer, and not the author, was responsible for the substitution of "clam" for calm.

HOW, like the shadow upon the dial, thought is ever returning to the place of beginning—where we first began to live, where we first began to love; to the homestead and the trysting place, the playground and the graveyard.

A DRUNKEN fellow, sitting on the steps of a church in Boston, the cold winds blowing chillingly round the corner: "If Heaven (hic) tempers the wind to the (hic) shorn lamb, I wish the lamb (hic) was on this corner."

THE Spring fashions, facetiously remarks the the Erie Observer, for 1867, are very attractive—particularly the elections. The Radical party is like the female bonnet—"growing small by degrees and beautifully less."

LEGISLATIVE CORRUPTION.

There is one subject upon which nineteen-twentieths of the people of Pennsylvania, without any distinction of party, are fully agreed, and that is that the late Legislature of Pennsylvania was the most corrupt body that ever assembled at Harrisburg. On this subject but one opinion exists. Even the Tribune and Alleghanian admit this. Nay, the latter organ makes a virtue of necessity, and thus claims credit for the rads for admitting the corruption of the Legislature. But the corruptions of this Legislature were the act of a majority of its members, and this majority was radical. The Alleghanian don't know a single radical paper that undertakes to defend this Legislature. Yes, it does, or ought to! Why the Hessian editor of the Telegraph, the organ of the party in the State, takes up the whole list of Senators and Members, of the radical faith, and bepraises and bepuffs each member, giving seventy-seven puffs for the seventy-seven radical members; and the Lewistown Gazette, published in a county represented by radicals, whom it wishes to do up Brown for another time, defends the whole corrupt body. Other papers of the same kidney in radical counties pursue the same course.

It is easy, then, for a radical paper in Cambria county, represented as she is by a democrat and an honest man, to try to clear its skirts of the corruption with which the party is reeking. But let us bring the matter down to a point.

The Tribune and Alleghanian will both admit, for they cannot deny, that Col. John P. Linton, our member, whether considered as a brave soldier or an honest, upright man, is without spot or blemish. Well, he was elected by 800 majority over John J. Glass, the radical. John Glass attempted to swindle Col. Linton out of his seat, and in order to do so, both forgery and perjury were procured. Now, supposing this standard bearer of yours had been elected, would he not have made just the kind of a man your leading organs have been praising? And yet, that he and such as knowingly committed a high crime for him, are not now in a penitential place is to be attributed to a mistaken clemency on the part of democrats who have been wronged and slandered by them.

In radical counties the present corrupt radical members will be generally renumerated; and should we for our sins be cursed with another radical Legislature, the corruptions of last winter will be perpetuated and increased. We do not charge every radical with dishonesty—far from it. But radical bodies of divided responsibility have always proved corrupt. And when you meet a legislator of that stripe, who is politically honest, you may safely use the distich of the poet as his epitaph.

Here lies a radical—an honest man—
Heaven works a wonder for us now and then.

THE LEWISTOWN GAZETTE.

Hon. Daniel J. Morrell has been giving the above delectable sheet a little too much string, and unless he curbs the machine, may soon have reason to cry, "Save me from my friends." It appears to speak for him cathedra, and yet does not seem to know whereof it speaks. Mr. Morrell would much better rely upon the prudence of his more sensible and dignified home organ than risk the ranting of this volunteer who knows nothing about his surroundings.

The Gazette champions Mr. Morrell's honesty and integrity, and, at the same time, lauds the honesty and integrity of the Radical Legislature, which the radicals here condemn as much as the Democrats. Mr. Morrell cannot thank him for making so close a connection. The truth is the Gazette is at all times ready to applaud or condemn, like old Trapboy, for a—consideration.

But the crowning glory of the Gazette's balderdash culminates in this: After speaking of our Congressman's integrity, it says this is "a position from which the combined wealth of all the old Canal and Portage Railroad robbers in Huntingdon, Blair, and Cambria could not move him." Don't the foolish fellow know that, with the exception of the "Portage Railroad robber" which the Rads. elected Governur last fall, the leading "Portage Railroad robbers" are now in the employ of Mr. Morrell, running his political machine! These men were democrats while democrats had power, and place, and plunder, but when democracy ceased to pay they found a more congenial party in the radicals. We know of those now running the radical party of Cambria, and in the employ of Mr. Morrell who came to the Portage as thin as a lath, and who were filled and fattened by the democratic party until they became 200 pounds; when, by the very force of gravitation, they fell from grace, and are now men of the greatest weight among radicals. But enough for the present. We have said more than we intended. Our business is with the political course of Mr. Morrell, and not with him personally.

THE MOBILE RIOT.

Senator Wilson is about to return from his Southern radical speech-making trip, having addressed the ex-rebels, white and black, at some thirty different points, without the least disturbance. Congressman Kelly, of Pennsylvania, undertook the same tour, with the same result, excepting in a single instance—at Mobile.

While Wilson and Kelly are equally radical, holding identical views, the former is a gentleman, while the latter is a blackguard. In his speech at Mobile, Kelly dealt in very severe invective and abuse, when he was interrupted by a "rough" in the crowd. The speaker then threatened them with the United States army, when a shot was fired. Kelly (for he is a coward as well as a blackguard) hid under the table, and the meeting became a mob. Many of the whites and all the blacks appeared to be armed, and in the melee two or three negroes and a still greater number of white men were killed, and many persons more or less injured.

Many of the more unscrupulous of the radical papers, as is their wont, throws all the blame on the white men who attended the meeting. Their more moderate and respectable organs, such as the New York Times, casts the blame on Kelly himself, as does all the democratic papers.

The practice of attending public meetings armed is all wrong, and cannot be too strongly reprobated. If radical orators wish to go down South and make speeches, it is their privilege. The democrats for the last six years have been vainly asserting that right against the radicals—and now that the radicals are beginning to yield the right they should be encouraged. No matter whether the audience be black or white, let them talk—and those who do not wish to hear revolutionary doctrines may remain away, if they choose.

It is less than a year since the President of the United States, chosen to that office by the radicals, in passing through the Northern States, where he had been invited, was denied the right of speaking by the party that elected him—hissed, hooted, and, at Indianapolis and elsewhere, shots actually fired and his life endangered. We looked upon this conduct then as we view it now. But strangely enough, the radicals who throw up their hands with such holy horror when a blackguard Congressman is on the stand, applauded the insult and abuse of their President.

Nor is it to be expected that there are no rowdies in a city like Mobile, any more than in Philadelphia or any of our Northern cities. It is less than three years since, in Philadelphia, the home of Kelly, democrats were killed in cold blood for no other offence than marching in a democratic procession. But even if the citizens of Mobile were blamable, the result could be traced to military government. Where that prevails emeutes and riots must occur, because people are always restive and turbulent when deprived of liberty. Whereas, in the Northern States we still have a republican form of government, in Mobile, instead of having a civil government, they are compelled to acknowledge the supremacy of Pope John.

The poor negroes we commiserate but do not blame. Introduced to our shores by the cupidity of Old and New England, they have been made the unhappy instruments of political agitation by those who use them only as the means of acquiring political power, and the period of their existence as a race is only being hurried by the madness of fanaticism.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

Says the Johnstown Tribune:

We ° ° ° announce that hereafter this paper will stand equivocally for Equal Justice to All Men—white and black.—Johnstown Tribune, May 27.

The Alleghanian naively retorts:

Better late than never, friend Swank; better express yourself awkwardly than not at all; and better be a slow coach, than no coach at all. The Alleghanian has been on the equal suffrage platform these many days, and wondered why you lagged behind. Keep a stiff upper lip, and you may yet get in sight of the Alleghanian.

But the crowning beauty of the loving dialogue is this from the Tribune:

We "lagged behind," forsooth, because we had serious doubts about the correctness of a political sentiment which had the Alleghanian for one of its trumpeters.

How cool and nice! Anything advocated by the Alleghanian is suspicious, quoth the Tribune. Verily,

"Nature hath framed strange fellows in her time!"

And our brethern of the Cambria county radical press are of them. The one a "slow coach"—the other causes "serious doubts about the correctness of a political sentiment" of which it is the "trumpeter."

"These be thy rads, oh Cambria!"

Now, if we had said as naughty a thing about our neighbor here it would have been dreadful! It would have been bad English, bad sense, bad taste—in short, a copperhead outrage! But then we have "no rights that a radical is bound to respect!"

MAXIMILIAN, Mejia, Costello and Miramon are reported to have been captured by the Liberals and are ordered to be shot.

EDITORIALITIES.

The Democratic nominating convention of Bedford county will be held on the 18th June next.

Consistency.—After all the fuss about hanging Jeff. Davis, a Radical Judge discharges him and a Radical editor bails him. Bully for the Rads!

The shops of Hezekiah Chrissman and Cornelius Lowe, of Smicksburg, Indiana county, were entered last week and robbed—the former of $50, the latter of $5.

The County Commissioners of Schuylkill county have determined to test the constitutionality of the new Jury Commissioner law, as applied to that county.

Right.—Cecil R. Banks, son of Thaddeus Banks, Esq., of Hollidaysburg, has received a Lieutenant's commission from the President. Everybody is pleased thereat, excepting the Whig man.

The Recess.—It (Patriot & Union) never poured much hot shot into the camp of the rebels.—Alleg.

May be it had to stay at home to support its mother.

John Brotherline, B. B., proposes, after he hangs Jeff. Davis, to hang the editor of the FREEMAN. In other words, he would like to continue what he always has been—a hanger on. As to giving us a lift, he had better try to elevate himself a little.

"We do not know of a single paper in the State that undertakes to defend the late Legislature against the charges brought against it of unfaithfulness and corruption."—Alleghanian.

Queer.—The Tribune will publish (so it says) a temperance address of Judge Taylor if he is nominated for Supreme Judge. If the address is good, as we have no doubt it is, the Judge's nomination will not make it any better. Or is temperance to be made political?

The Lewistown Gazette plumes itself on the very large majority against the editor of the FREEMAN last election. How was it in Mifflin, Mr. Gazette? If all the radical organs in the district had been like the Gazette it would have made our "calling and election sure."

The Alleghanian desires to know what the Freeman would think of the nomination of Jefferson Davis and Edgar Cowan for President and Vice President.

Well! it might do! When the radicals hang Jeff. we would have a first rate Union President. But we think if Jeff. Davis should be nominated for President, his old friend, Beast Butler, should be on the ticket with him. Or if that would not do, his bail, Horace Greeley might answer! Still, the Freeman would not support any of the above tickets.

Not Our Fault.—The Alleghanian takes us to task for referring to the fact that the Rads. have again changed their name. Let him attack Frank Jordan for that—it is no fault of ours. The call is in the Alleghanian—the people can see it for themselves. By the way, Frank Jordan is too honest a man to be guilty of the falsehood of longer calling his party the Union party. That did well enough during the war when we were fighting for the Union, but now, since the Union is not to be restored, it was right to fall back upon the name that caused secession.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—The rebel Lieut. Tolbert, who bet $2,500 that he could prove J. Wilkes Booth to be still alive, is reported to have won and received the money.

—The chimney of the Enfield Company at Thompsonville, Ct., one hundred feet high, and containing 100,000 bricks, was removed last week a distance of seventy feet without damage.

—It seems that Radicalism has progressed as far as Hayti. It is announced that the first act of the new aspirant for presidential honors, Gen. Victorin, consisted in robbing the public treasury of three hundred thousand dollars.

—One darkey has been placed upon each of the twenty-eight precinct election boards of Washington City. The nigger is not exactly in the woodpile now; he's perched upon the top stick. The worst of it is—he knows it, and spreads himself accordingly.

—A colored sergeant of the ninth colored cavalry, in Texas, who was to have been reduced to the ranks, lately formed a conspiracy with fourteen of his comrades to murder the white officers of the regiment. He succeeded in killing one lieutenant and was then himself killed.

—A boy aged four and a half years got lost in the woods near Durham, N. H., recently, and was diligently searched for during the six succeeding days. At the end of that time the child was discovered by a dog, still alive but nearly exhausted from hunger and exposure. He had subsisted during that period on leaves and berries.

—Mr. Greeley, in his letter to the Union League Club of New York, gives fair notice that he will urge re-enfranchisement of these now proscribed for rebellion, as soon as he feels confident that this course is consistent with the freedom of the blacks. He claims his going to Richmond to sign Jeff. Davis' bail bond was the wisest act of a life earnestly devoted to the good of the human kind.

—John Dipple, landlord of the Black Horse Hotel, Lewistown, after receiving license, posted the following unique notice "To all whom it may concern": "The undersigned, desiring to obey all laws restraining the sale of liquors, respectfully requests all heads of families who have drunken sons, or husbands, wives or daughters, to give me the written notice required by law, forbidding me to sell such habitual drunkards liquor, with their signatures attached, and I pledge myself, my reputation, and my property, that such requests shall be rigidly complied with. I desire to comply with all laws regulating my legitimate business, and in order to do so, request the assistance of all law-abiding citizens. The members of temperance societies, who have annoyed me for liquor, will please me much by withdrawing their patronage from either me or the society."

THE LATEST AND BEST NEWS is that R. H. Singer, who, upon his entree into our town, reduced the price of horse-shoeing one-third, has determined still to lead the van, and offers to work 10 per cent. lower than the lowest for cash, and insures satisfaction. Persons needing tire on their wagons or carriages, can save dollars by giving him their work. "A dollar saved is a dollar gained," and the way to save many of them is to get your blacksmithing done with Mr. Singer, at the west end of town. Mr. S. is also selling I. C. Singer's unequalled Tire and Band Bender—a machine which saves a great amount of time and labor and bends the Tire round and true—of which Wm. Myers, of Altoona, says he would not take $100 and do without. Any amount of testimony just like that can be shown, but the machine is its own best recommendations to a mechanic. Persons wishing to purchase should call on or address R. H. SINGER, Ebensburg.

Territory for sale. For terms address I. C. SINGER, Box 85, Altoona, Pa.

PUBLISH THEM.—The State Superintendent of Common Schools says that the section of the law requiring school directors to publish an annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of their respective districts, is as obligatory upon the boards as the section requiring them to keep open schools, and a neglect to perform this duty according to law will subject directors to removal by the courts, the same as for the neglect of any other duty required by law.

NOTICE.—I will deliver Figge's Horse Hay Fork and Pulley to those who have ordered them from me, as follows: At Scott House, Johnstown, on Saturday, June 1st, and at John A. Blair's Hotel, Ebensburg, on Tuesday, June 4th, 1867.

THE CAMBRIA FREEMAN.

THURSDAY, : : : MAY 30, 1867.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

MacSHANE has been unavoidably denied a hearing this week. The announcement of the show came unexpectedly upon us, and as a consequence there is no show for MacShane in our columns to-day.

Anna is informed that we cannot give her "Parted Lovers" a sight in the Freeman without having her real name.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

A WORD FOR OURSELVES.—It is our wish and intention to enlarge the FREEMAN to a seven column paper and otherwise improve it at the close of the first half year, which will be in July next. Since the establishment of our paper we have worked faithfully to make it worthy the generous support which has been awarded to it, and believe we can say that its columns has furnished more reading matter than any paper published in the county. Still, in the language of one of our Tuetonic friends, we desire to make it "petter as goot," and hence our proposed enlargement. In order to accomplish this we ask those of our patrons who have not yet paid their subscriptions to do so at their earliest convenience. The coming session of Court will enable most of our subscribers to either bring or send the money, and we trust that all will avail themselves of the opportunity. Those who cannot reach us in this way can remit by mail. We do not think that any one now doubts the stability of our enterprise, and therefore we have no hesitancy in appealing to all. Will all answer in the proper spirit and at the proper time? If they do we shall not be slow in fulfilling our promises. We desire not only to print the best paper in the county, but to secure the largest list of paying subscribers. When we enlarge the FREEMAN we shall also endeavor to enlarge its circulation. Will our friends aid us? We shall see.

SPRING.—The unusually protracted winter, which, has at length yielded to the balmy influences of spring. Monday morning opened with a clear sky and a bright sun. The plums, peaches, and pears, burst from the buds in which they had so long been pent up, as if by magic, and even the red tips of the apple blossoms peered abroad on the world. The feathered tribes held high carnival, and furnished a free concert from many a bough, while their matin song fell joyfully upon the ear, changing gloom to gladness. Having had one of her severest winters we can now look for a few months enjoy such a summer as only the Alleghanies can afford.

"Lingering chilled the lap of May,"

AIN'T THAT SO?—Nothing in the long catalogue of personal or family wants will induce a man to go from home to purchase so quickly as an article of wearing apparel. If a man wants a coat, pants, or vest, or all three, he will not unfrequently visit some business centre to obtain them, and as Altoona is a business centre which many from the east side of the mountain visit, we wish to say to all such that our friend G. Wolff, on Main Street, is amongst the most deserving, accommodating and bargain-giving dealers in ready-made clothing within the circle of our acquaintance, and for him we solicit the patronage of such of our readers as may visit Altoona to purchase clothing.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE.—In our last issue we informed our readers of the contemplated ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Catholic church in this borough, which is to take place on Tuesday next. It is expected that some fifteen or twenty clergymen will be in attendance—among them a number of the best vocalists in the diocese—and the sermon of Father Hill cannot fail to be a masterly effort, eminating as it will from one of the most eloquent and profound orators connected with the Catholic church. The ceremonies throughout will be grand and impressive, and from all sections people will doubtless flock to witness it.

LARCENY AND ASSAULT.—On Friday evening last a young man named John M'Bride was arraigned before Esquire Kinkead, of this place, charged on oath of Henry Rager, of Jackson township, with having appropriated to his own behalf and behoof certain articles of wearing apparel belonging to the said Rager, and with having subsequently committed an assault on the plaintiff. On hearing the accused was held in $600 bail to answer at Court.

HOW many were there only two vowels? In the days of no a (Noah), before a and e (you and I) were born, or before passing time was regulated by such pretty mechanical contrivances, in the shape of clocks and watches, J. T. Roberts has for sale in great profusion and very cheap at his establishment on Main street. Cham., by the way, has just returned from the east with a rich profusion of goods in his line, which he will be pleased to display for the inspection of customers.

THERE was anything in a name people can be induced to believe that buying low on High street was an impossibility, but as names are only used to distinguish one thing from another, the fact that Jas. M. Thompson's store is on High street does not by any means argue that he will not sell as cheap, if not cheaper, than "any other man." Jim is a good fellow, keeps the best kind of goods, and sells at reasonable prices.

ANOTHER SHOW COMING!—Whitbey & Co's combined Circus and Menagerie is announced for exhibition in our town on Monday week next. J. Hernandez, Geo. Derious and other equestrians and gymnasts connected with this exhibition, are undoubtedly the best performers on this continent, and the grand array of zoological wonders stands unrivaled both in number and variety. Go and see the show by all means.

HAMMERS.—The Etna Mower and Reaper for sale by Andy Maguire, is superior to any other machine now before the public. Call and see it and judge for yourself. It costs nothing to look at it.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, MAY 27, 1867.

Dear Freeman—The usual monthly payment of employees at the iron works came off on Saturday last, and for the time being a fresh impetus has been given to business of all kinds. I notice a commendable falling off in police arrests this time, and it is to be hoped that under the vigilant efforts of our officers and the severe accommodations and high prices incident to a short sojourn in the borough jail, the bad practice of a certain class of men who earn by hard toil the accumulation of a month, and by means of a few drinks of "hell broth" frequently lose every penny of their earnings, may at length be discontinued. Were it not for the kindness of Maj. Ryckman, who as a police officer stands at the head of his profession, many more of this class would recover from their intoxication in the stone jug, although no partiality is shown, and it is only the obstreperous individuals, who perforce become quarrelsome or obscene, who are jugged. I believe the Major to be a man who takes particular pride in preventing this species of crime, yet it pains him to punish it. Only five cases were confined Saturday night—all for "mild but sweet ebriety." Upon payment of fines and a promise to go and sin no more they were to-day released.

The expected steam fire engine arrived on Friday, and will be tested to-day under the superintendence of employees of the firm by whom she was constructed. The engine is one of the finest I have ever seen, and if her utility is as perfect as her ornamental appearance our citizens may well be proud of their purchase. In addition to the engine we have two beautiful and serviceable hose carriages, one of which now carries seven hundred feet of first class hose. The engine is a greater curiosity to some of our people than were the sacred cattle of Rice's circus, and anxious crowds have been besieging the engine house to get a view of the steam squirt. The fire apparatus is in the hands of a competent company, under the name of "Assistance No. 1," and will doubtless be able to arrest the progress of the fire fiend, should occasion offer.

Last night I witnessed what was to me quite a novel scene—the baptism by immersion of eleven persons in the Stony Creek. The river was considerably swollen by the recent rains, and some difficulty was experienced in securing an eligible point for the performance of the sacred rite. At the foot of Main street an eddy in the river was found to answer the purpose, and thither the large concourse, consisting of members and spectators, wended their way. Arriving at the water's edge, the minister made a brief prayer, and after delivering a few remarks in justification of baptism by immersion, proceeded to "dip" the candidates. The muddy waters rolling swiftly by, lit up by the lurid glare of torches—the bold outline of the hill beyond and the dark, threatening clouds o'erhead—the voice of the officiating clergyman repeating the formula prescribed by their church—the eleven candidates (seven men and four females) walking waist deep into the water, and each in turn for a moment disappearing from view and then returning to the land chanting a hymn expressive of their joy—all formed a scene partaking of the romantic, and one which will not soon be forgotten by the many who impelled by piety or curiosity came to witness it.

A young man named Myers was caught a few days ago in a piece of shafting connected with the rolls at the Mill, and made a narrow escape from death. The engine driver was fortunately at his post and promptly stopped the engine, but not until Myers had made several lightning-like evolutions. He was completely exhausted when detached from the machinery, and it was some time ere he realized the appalling danger from which he had been so opportunely rescued.

Three boys were arrested last week for the alleged robbery of a man who is partially deaf, and who resides below Millville. The boys are accused of knocking the man down and taking from him a box of cigars and a small amount of money. After a hearing they were released on bail to answer.

Some "shovers" of counterfeit money paid our town a visit last week, and as a small token of remembrance left several counterfeit $10 bills on the Third National Bank of Philadelphia. Two notes of this denomination were taken by Mr. Spigelmire and forwarded to the city firm he represents, by whom they were sent back as counterfeit. I was shown these two bills, but not pretending to be a judge of money I could not distinguish any difference when compared with a genuine note. Mr. Swank was also victimized to the tune of ten dollars.

The poles for a telegraph line from Wood, Morrell & Co.'s new store room, connecting with the woolen factory and brick works at Woodvale and the offices of the Company in Millville, were last week erected, and the wires and instruments will be put up during the present week. This will prove a great disideratum to the large and flourishing concern represented, and will obviate the necessity of the great amount of travel heretofore required between these distant points.

I see by your last issue that a Mr. Hicks makes a statement to the effect that we have here over 600 whisky shops. Now Mr. H. ought to draw it mild, for I do not think he could scare up 200 dram shops within a radius of ten miles, with the market house as a given point. Tyrone—called by courtesy Tyrone City—is, I believe, the home of the statistical Mr. Hicks. Now I will wager our bob-tailed rooster against a pint of peanut shells that there is more reeking corruption, profligacy and crime in Tyrone in one day than there is in Johnstown in six. Johnstown has not within her limits a house of ill-fame, and if reports be true prostitutes are almost as numerous in Tyrone as fiddlers are said to be in a region unmentionable. So remedy your own discrepencies, friend Hicks, before you hunt for the mote in your neighbor's eye. We may drink a little—perhaps occasionally too much—but then we have the bright and shining examples of Yates, Chandler, and hosts of other scab-throated so called statesmen who misrepresent the country, and who are par excellence the drunkards of the day. Don't fly off the handle, Mr. Hicks, but take a wee smather of Bourbon mild and it will cure you of the bilious disease with which you seem to suffer.

Theodore Barnett, formerly a printer, and a young man much esteemed in this community, died at Wilmore on Friday last of consumption. His remains were brought to this place and interred in Sandy Vale Cemetery yesterday.

I noticed citizen Blair of your town perambulating our streets a few days ago. Mr. B. is a whole-souled genial companion and a life-long consistent democrat—the latter the best recommendation I could give any man. May he prosper. Geo. Gurley was also "bobbin' around," and I believe left town duly sober. Signed on oath.

I am rather opposed to indiscriminate puffing, but if "Sku Bal" makes a statement I doubt not your intelligent readers will place confidence in it. This is preliminary to the announcement of the fact that if any of your youthful readers contemplate matrimony, and are casting around where they can get the best and cheapest "set up" in the stove and tinware line, or if the culinary utensils of your more aged readers are about worn out, they should each and all pay a visit to the establishment of Hay Brothers of this city. A more clever young man than the junior member of this firm, Lieut. John B. Hay, cannot be found anywhere, and he will "do the nice" to all who visit their establishment. SKU BAL.

CARROLLTOWN, MAY 27, 1867.

Dear Freeman—At last the rain has ceased and good weather supervened, to linger, it is fondly hoped, for at least twenty-four hours. And now the question suggests itself, when will come good roads? It is a positive fact, and at the same time a superlative disgrace to those interested, that the roads leading north from Ebensburg isolates Carrolltown and extreme points almost to the same extent as the snow drifts of the late severe winter cut us off from the rest of the world and New Jersey. Is there no remedy? Perhaps it is not important enough to call for reflection on part of those who are draining our country of its natural wealth.

It is the painful duty of your correspondent to record the somewhat unexpected death of Mr. Jerome Buck. Mr. Buck was but thirty-three years of age at the time of his death, which happened on Saturday last, about 11 o'clock A. M. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his untimely demise, and a large circle of relatives and friends, who knew him but to love him, join them in lamenting the early passing away of a noble, generous and manly soul. Peace to his ashes, and may He who is father to the fatherless comfort and protect the bereaved ones who wept o'er his bier.

It is also our duty as local correspondent, to notice the death of Mr. Francis Glosser, who died at Glosser's settlement on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. Mr. Glosser leaves a wife and twelve children to lament his death. He was about sixty years of age. Both of the deceased were buried to-day. IAGO.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.—Benj. Clabaugh, a switch-tender at the upper end of the yard, Altoona, was run over by the front wheels of a locomotive, on Monday morning of last week, and had both legs so severely crushed that he died the same evening. He leaves a wife and three children.——Six more conductors on the Penn'a R. R. have been presented with $100 each by the Company as a recognition of their fidelity and efficiency. Corporations may have no souls, but this one at least has the heart to bestow favors when the faithfulness of its employees merit them.——A young man and young woman named Bosh, residing about six miles from Greensburg, died recently, it is said, from that terrible disease, trichina. A young lady who attended them in their sickness is said to be dangerously ill of the same disease.——Joseph Martin, a brakeman on the Pa. R. R., was instantly killed, on the 15th inst., by his head coming in contact with a bridge near Millwood, Westmoreland county, while passing over the freight train upon which he was employed. He was a young man and resided at Bolivar.——Six car loads of oil caught fire near Kittanning Point, on Friday night week, and some two hundred barrels were consumed.——The barn of Gilson Lightcap, Union township, Westmoreland county, was struck by lightning, a few days ago, and with its contents entirely destroyed.——A young man named Alexander Shoupe was literally cut to pieces by a circular saw, at Homer, Indiana county, on the 17th inst., while attempting to remove a plank from the saw frame. His legs, arms and the upper part of his head were severed from the body.——Charles Chase has been found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing an old woman named McDonald, in Jefferson county, and sentenced to be hung.——Felty Smith, of Newton Hamilton, attempted to commit suicide, a few days ago, by cutting his throat with a penknife. Being a Good Templar, and impressed with the idea that some medicine he had taken contained brandy, and that the brandy would "send him to hell," he endeavored to facilitate matters by taking his own life. It is thought he will recover.——Thos. L. Caldwell, cashier of Lloyd & Co.'s Bank, Tyrone, a most estimable and trustworthy young man, died of brain fever in that place, on the 20th inst., after one week's illness.——Gold and silver has been found in iron ore taken from the mines of G. Roody, near Mt. Union, Huntingdon county. The ore is said to yield $12,80 in gold and 80 cents in silver to each ton.——Dr. J. M. Gemmill has been chosen delegate and Dr. R. Clark, Thomas M'Kiernan and O. A. Traugh Democratic conferees from Blair county.

HORACE GREELEY once recommended as a matter of economy that men should go without drawers. That might be an elegant mode of saving, but the bare idea of such a thing in this cold climate makes us shudder. A more certain mode of economizing in this region is to buy your drawers and everything else you need at the cheap mercantile mart of V. S. Barker, on High street, where everything from a needle to a barrel of flour can be purchased at the lowest cash prices.

HOUSES, stables, fences, etc., are just now ornamented with immense posters setting forth the fact that another show is coming, but strangely enough they fail to say anything about the great show of goods which is open to free inspection day and evening at the cheap store of Mills & Davis on High street. This latter exhibition is the finest of the kind in this neighborhood, and is well worthy the inspection of all persons seeking good goods at low prices.

SCHOOL PIC-NIC.—The children connected with the subscription schools of Misses Maria Brookbank and Lizzie Roberts, marched in procession from the public school house to one of the groves adjoining town, on Tuesday morning last, where they enjoyed themselves in innocent recreations and social festivities during the balance of the day. The procession moved off amid the boisterous hooting and blasphemous greetings of a lot of unmannerly boys who daily congregate on the school grounds to indulge in base ball and profane bickerings, much to the annoyance of the school's aforesaid and decent citizens generally. We commend those among them who have a penchant for playing rowdy to the attention of the police authorities, if parents fail, to take cognizance of their doings.

DIED.

In Carroll township, at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning, of a pulmonary disease, Mr. JEROME BUCK, aged about 33 years. The deceased was much esteemed in his neighborhood. His remains were interred in Carrolltown churchyard on Monday morning, whither they were followed by a large concourse of relatives and neighbors.

In Chest township, at one o'clock on Sunday morning, Mr. FRANCIS GLOSSER, aged about 60 years.

At Sonman, this county, on Monday last, Mr. WILLIAM BURK, aged about 43 years.

A CHANCE FOR A BARGAIN.—FARM FOR SALE.—The Farm owned and occupied by the subscriber, situated in Munster township, Cambria county, four miles south-east of Ebensburg and one-fourth mile from Samuel O'Hara's Mill, containing 121 ACRES and allowance, is offered for sale on reasonable terms and easy payments. Eighty acres of the above land are cleared, under good fence, and in excellent farming condition. The improvements consist of a two-story PLANK HOUSE and a large FRAME BARN, both in good preservation, as well as all other necessary outbuildings. An extensive orchard of choice fruit trees and never-failing springs of excellent water are on the premises. Further information can be obtained by making application to DANIEL O'HARA.

DEFERRED NEWS ITEMS.

—The young Marquis of Bute, who will be one of the wealthiest men in the three kingdoms, has become a convert to the Roman Catholic faith.

—The philantbropists of Massachusetts are shipping off their unmarried white women by thousands to the far west, avowedly to find husbands, and are filling their places with emancipated weaches imported from South Carolina. Grand moral idea.

—The negro stevedores of New Orleans got up a riot among themselves the other day and badly battered two policemen who undertook to rescue one of the combatants. The military were called out. It seems that the sole use of the standing army is to keep the "wards of the nation" in decent order.

—Suicides of prominent men have been very frequent of late years. Within two years, Preston King, Senator James H. Lane, of Kansas, and Collector Stone, of Columbus, all leading and influential men, holding high official position, have passed out of life through the dark door of self-slaughter. Hon. Elijah Hise is now added to the catalogue.

—The Sergeant-at-Arms of the New Jersey Senate, while assorting a quantity of old papers that had accumulated in the Senate Chamber during the last fifty or sixty years, discovered the official copy of the ratification of the treaty of peace between King George the Third and the United States, acknowledging the independence of the latter.

—The New York Herald, speaking of the disgusting wickedness of Rev. Serene Howe, charges that "the pretended morality or humanity of Massachusetts is nothing but profound hypocrisy; that there is not so wicked a city in the world as Boston; and that, with a great outside show of decency and morality, there is a vast amount of secret vice."

—A young lady in Kentucky, now 24, has for twelve years slept almost constantly, awaking regularly twice in every twenty-four hours to receive nourishment, and then falling into a deep sleep again. When awake she converses and takes her food readily, suffers no bodily pain, seems to be in perfect health, and her disposition to sleep defies all medical skill.

—The latest case of a ministerial backsliding is that of Rev. Serene Howe, a Massachusetts legislator and Baptist minister. Serene was afflicted with the usual weakness of the cloth, and his victims are numbered by the dozen. He resigned his seat in the Legislature, and left hastily to avoid tar and feathers and a ride on a single rail. He has gone South as a missionary to the freedmen.

—The remains of Robert Folger, the murderer of Robert Dinsmore, were buried by the side of his father and mother, in Georgetown, Beaver county, on Thursday evening. The scene was most sad and solemn. The sun had sank to rest, and the moon and stars were the only lights that guided the footsteps of those bearing the remains to the place of sepulchre. Little did the father and mother, when living, think such would be the fate of their son.
